have not been successful because it is said the practice is not covered by a law in this state. Now it has been suggested that the drivers be arrested for exceeding the speed limit on the public highways, and this may be done.

Holdups Are Frequent.

Although the farmers have been

Although the furmers have been threatening to take some determined action against the booze haulers, because of their road hoggishness, they are not giving the drivers as much excitement as the holdup gangs. Frequently of late, the cars have been stopped and their loads of wet goods stolen. One day between $300 and $1400 worth of liquor was taken from one car, and numerous smaller hauls have been made, so that now nearly all of the booze cars are guarded by a man who sits at the rear end, armed with a Winchester. Soveral fights leave taken place between the booze haulers and bandits, and on Christmas eve, a driver was shot through the leas. The sheating occurred near Baxter Springs.

Drivers Arrange Robberics.

Drivers Arrange Robberies.

To rob the boose cars is considered, and has been, quite an easy job, as the owners dare not make complaint, because they fear action will be started against them by the Oklahoma authorities for hauling liquor into that state. So if the robbers caponice get away with the stuff, there is little chance for the stuff, there is little chance for the stuff, there is little chance for the stuff, there is stuff. nto that state. So if the robbers can nee get away with the stuff, there is little chance for them being ar-ested. The pickings have been so asy and the game so profitable, it is now charged that some of the pome haulers are playing the holdup ame among themselves. It is said that the men who deal out the stuff own in Oklahoma never do any of the hauling themselves, but hire men is the work, giving them enough for the work, giving them enough money in advance to pay for the gooze and their hire. It is an easy matter then for the man employed to chased, that the driver will pocket the money and return home and re-port that he was held up. Other times, it is believed that hold-ups seen arranged and the proce

Ida Tarbell Addresses Congress.
Washington, Dec. 30.—Ida M. Tarbell told the Pan-American Scientific congress today that the education of a woman should be based on the assumption that she will marry.

"The woman as a rule comes to her task without systematic training," said Miss Tarbell. "Parents generally consent that when she marries she can pick up what she needs to know. The results are deplorable."

Many of Mr. Lansing's declarations to the Pan-American congress took on added significance today in the light of his proposals to the Latin-American republics.

"Within recent years," said he, "the United States has found no occasion, with the exception of the Venezuelan boundary incident to remind Europe that the M proc doctrine continues unaiteved, a national policy in this republic. The republics of American are no longer children in the great family of nations. They have attained maturity.

At another point Mr. Lansing said: "When we attempt to analyze Pan-Americanism we find the essential qualities are those of the family sympathy, helptuiness and a sincere desire to see another growing prosperity: absence of covetousness of another's possessions, absence of jeal-oney of another's possessions, absence of jeal-oney of another's possessions, absence of feal-oney of another's possessions, absence of igal-oney of another's possessions, absence of igal
